America was hoarse last night.

The francie cheer that announced the end of the world series was the tribute of 100,000,000 people to Walter Johnson.

For a week, business men all over the country have gone anxiously to the windows every time the crowd cheered in front of the bulletin boards. Even in Washington, the Presidential campaign was forgotten. For a week America has hung over the score boards pulling for Walter Johnson to win.

Nobody cared about the Washington team. All hearts were bound up in the hope that this fine, simple-hearted old athlete could close his long career by winning a world series.

Eighteen years ago, a big hulking, honest, clean-living country boy left the California oil fields to, be a baseball pitcher.

For eighteen years he has faithfully worked his giant, tough old right arm to win for Washington. Year after year he has struggled in vain.

Old and worn from the struggle he found his way into the world series at last.

But it seemed as though he had come too late. With heavy hearist he baseball world saw him lose one game; then another. It looked as though Johnson's exit from professional baseball would be as a whipped and beaten old man.

With a fine, unselfish chivalry, the young Washington manager, Bucky Harris, refused to take him from the box the day when the New York Giants were pounding him all over the lot. He preferred to jeopardise his own career as a manager rather than force the old veteran to walk across the diamond to the showers in the sight of the fans.

The last day of the series, Bucky Harris did something that will mark him forever as one of the finest sportsmen and bravest hearts that has ever worn a baseball uniform. With the world series game score tied; the score of the final deciding game tied,

learly 1,500,000 Ballots from 42 States are Tabulated and Analyzed in This Week's "Digest"

LL PREVIOUS RECORDS for the fourth week total of a national poll are submerged by the fourth weekly report of THE LITERARY GEST Presidential canvass which shows an aggregate of nearly a miland a half votes. This passes the previous high-water mark for this e of any poll by more than 200,000 votes. The returns indicate that est in the election and the eagerness with which the voters are onding in the "Digest" poll are increasing daily.

may safely be predicted that when the poll is completed it will stand by many hundreds of thousands of votes as the largest and most representative test of public opinion ever attempted in this country.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week, returns from 42 states are recorded. In addition to the tabulations of nearly 1,500,000 votes, there are searching analyses and illuminating comments from the press of the country upon the returns.

While the Presidential poll is probably the biggest news-feature in the "Digest," this week, there are many other articles of scarcely less interest. Among them are:

Those who saw his two previous defeats are toe French horse's most ardent supporters. It now ap ears likely that the field will number not more than seven, possibly siy. Wise Counsellor has developed lameness, not serious, but enough to keep him out of it. He is named among the ten carded starters, but is not expected to go to the post.

Of the Harry Sinclair pair, Mad Play is scheduled to go, if the track is fast, and Zev if it's heavy, although the Kentucky derby winner, of 1923 stepped six furlongs to win the fifth race this afternoon in 1:11 1-5. Alta Wood is a doubtful starter. If this colt does not go, Little Chief is expected to face the barrier, with Jockey McDermott astride.

With seven starters, the international race will be worth $35,000 net to the winner, besides the gold trophy offered by the Kentucky Jockey Club, which is staging the greatest of three Epinard races.

JOHNSON STILL MIGHTY

Harris Goes Wild Over Walter's Fine Work in Last Four Innings; Regards it Masterpiece

BY STANLEY HARRIS second baseman of Washington
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 .- This should be the greatest story ever tten. Unfortunately the events of the last few hours have so pletely dazed me that I still feel we're going out to play another game morrow. I've always heard it said, "It's all over but the shouting. This time, that's all wrong. I can't believe it really is all over and I've never heard such shouting in my life.
It's hard to analyze my feelings tonight, but the biggest thrill I've Gameness of gotten out of the biggest moment of my life was the glorious come-back of Walter Johnson, who put the finishing touch to the greatest world's series game I ever played in, the best I ever looked at or even read of—probably the most dramatic world's series game ever played.

dramatic world's series game ever played.

I have no way of knowing exactly how Walter Johnson felt during the critical last four innings of the game, but if he got anything like the "kick" out of those final innings that I got he must be the happiest mortal walking the seven spheres. There isn't a lover of clean sport in the world who hann't greever, those first two games in which Walter came out second best. It was a tremendous thrill even for those of us out on the firing line when, after the score was tied up and Walter began shooting them across with his old-time stied up and Walter began shooting them across with his old-time stied up and walter began shooting them across with his old-time stied up and walter began shooting them across with his old-time stip and skill and grace, we all realized that the big moment had come and the smoke-ball king would crash his way into the great-store world series. If they did, Irene was no and Marjorie becare to ride a cow with world series. If they did, Irene and Marjorie were to ride a cow down Broadway. Here is Gaya, the winner, making up with the pretty girls.

"Let the mind be in you which was also, in Christ Jesus," was the text of the eulogistic address delivered by the two officiating ministers, one a negro, the other white. The text was the only one used by "Uncle Jaggers" during his seventy-five years of preaching.

Born a slave on the estate of Lemuel Estes, in Chester county, South Carolina, in March, 1831, Jaggers began spreading the gospel in his own way, "from the fence corners," and at the age of 18 years was ordained preacher in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, From that time he continued preaching and collecting from his "white friends" donations for charities which he sponsored, among them a negro mission and an old folks' some. He yearly put aside as his "salary" a single cent.

Some of the leading white citizens of Columbia acted as honorary palibearers at "Uncle Jaggers' funeral. The Rev. H. R. Murchison, D.D., executive secretary of the Columbia Seminary, was the white minister assistant at the funeral.

In his proclamation Mayor Coleman says of 'Uncle Jaggers' that "Yew, if any, of his kind and time are left, and it is doubtful if we shall again have the opportunity to do honor to one of his race who so fichly deserved it."—[Arkansas Gazette. MacLOON PURCHASES LUTHER REED'S "WILDCATTER" satisfied with resting 'Clinging Vine" laurels, so to speak, that enterprising young and manager of the Playhouse self another play. Although it does seem as though "The Clinging Vine" has taken root down there at the Playhouse, and although it is producing golden fruit for Mac-Loon, he yesterday purchased another play, this time a comedy-drama called "The Wildcatter," by Luther Reed, author of "Dear Me," which served Grace LaRue and her husband, Hale Hamilton, last year.

If over "The Clinging Vine," in which Peggy Wood and Trixie Friganza are scoring so heavily, stops, spreading and climbing and blossoming, "The, Wildcatter" is to be given, a showing at the Playhouse, but this, judging from present appearances, will not be until some time early in the coming new year.

'Gianni Schicci,'' "L'Amico Fritz" Operas Today

A double bill of "Gianni Schic-chi" and "L'Amico Fritz" will be the fourth performance to be pre-of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company.

"Gianni Schiechi", is an opera in one act. It was written by G. Puccini, composer of "Madame Butterfly," and next to this classic is considered the best this famous Italian has composed. Unlike the average opera, it is a comedy, and has no deaths! Though in Italian, it can be easily understood by the average person without the aid of a libretto, it is said.

The role of "Gianni Schiechi" will be sung by Giuseppe de Luca, baritone of the Metropolitan, who is the creator of this part. It is one of his greatest impersonations. Also unlike other operas "Gianni Schiechi" has no chor is, but has a cast of eighteen principals.

"L'Amico Fritz" is a comedy in three acts by Mascagni, composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana." It has a small cast, but if this opera the chorus is called on to do a large share of the work. Tito Schipa, whose appearance in "Manon" last Tuesday resulted in a sold-out house, will sing as will Thalia Sabanieva, who already is a great favorite here as the result of her work in "Manon" and "Romeo and Juliet." De Luca, too, will sing in "L'Amico Fritz." The concluding performance will be "La Traviata" with Schipa and Muzio, to be presented Monday evening.

mense additions to the total agricultural wealth in California till result in the next few months as the harvesting and marketing of the principal crops continue. The walnut output is valued at approximately $14,000,000, it was stated yesterday in an announcement from the growers' association, and to this amount, the ripe clive and sugar beet industries will contribute a sum estimated from $10,000,000 sugar beet industries will contribute a sum estimated from $10,000,000 to $11,000,000.

As practically the only source of ripe clive production, this State, according to J. J. Hoey, secretary of the California Ripe Olive Association, dominates the market and names the prices. Because of last year's carryover, there is some healtancy this season in establishing quotations, but it is generally believed, Mr. Hoey states, that the green olive is derived from the manu facture of clive oil. About 40 per cent of the crop is usually utilized for this purpose, last year's oil progrowers will receive approximately the same return per ton this sea.

Foreign exchange responded favorably to the signing of the German loan agreement. Demand sterling advanced more than a cent to above 34.49 and French francs climbed more than 5 points to around 5.20 cents. Japanese yen established a new low record for the year at 377-8 cents.

South American exchanges lost ground on profit taking.

Call money held steady at 2½ per cent. The time money market was quiet with no change in rates. Commercial paper displayed a somewhat firmer tone.

they could hear the chap in the

A drummer joined the line just in time to hear an emphatic, "Yes,

"Hello," said the drummer, "central's given somebody heaven."

While the bandit with the stilletto remained on guard at the edge of the bed, the second desperado went through the apartment, taking the phonograph records, phonograph and clothing. This plunder he wrapped in a large bundle and the two departed, locking the door on the outside and taking the key with them.

From the Gonzales apartment the bandits proceeded to the apartment occupied by Roy Hutt, one floor below. Hutt sprang out of bed just after the men had forced an entrance. Before he could cryout, however, one of the bandits wound a bath towel about his neck and cheked him until he was unconscious. They ransacked the apartment thoroughly, but found nothing of value.

OIL STATION ROBBED

About the same time in the morning a bandit in an automobile drove up to the oil station at 1600 South Western avenue. E. W. Neale, the attendant, was stiting in the doorway, smoking peacefully. The guaman jammed his revolver into Neale's side, extracted $91 from the till and sped away.

A few minutes later, according to a police reporf, two thusp pounced on Morris Seltzer of $10 State street, a deaf mute, near Tenth and Central avenue. The victim, of course, was unable to cry out. The thugs beat him unmeneffully, kicked him repeatedly, and then checked him unconscious.

Phonograph, Records

A pair of thick-set Mexican bandits, one armed with a long, gleaming stiletto and the other gripping a heavy black revolver, raided an apartment house at 694 South Rio street, early yesterday morning, choked two of their victims into submission and departed with fifty-five phenograph records, a talking machine and $150 in clothing.

The bandits first forced their way into the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Antonic R. Gonzales, who were asleep. The barrel of the bandit's gun jammed forcibly into his side awoke Gonzales. His wife awoke almost at the same moment.

The bandit armed with the stiletto, to prevent Mrs. Gonzales from crying out, choked her into semiconsciousness. Then the robbers informed the couple they would be killed without the slightest scrupls at the faintest outcry.

DOG SHOW IS 'OLD CHAMP'

Aged Veteran of Bench Halts Fight of Sons at Hollywood Exhibit

A family quarrel and all the world knows what they are—threatened to disrupt the Holly-big tent on Hollywood Boulevard, near the Hollywood Hotel.

Old Champion, an English buil terrier, whose bench name is White Heather, allowed himself to be dragged by his master, Al Christie, into the ten with that bored look on his face that has been there for several shows recently, since, in fact, Old Champion got fifteen points in the American Kennel Club ratings. Old Champion was merely to be on exhibition this year, because he is going on 10 years of age, which is a pretty old dog. He was judged the best dog of his breed in last year's Hollywood show and seeks no more laurels.

In popularity the Boston terrier leads with 120 entries, this very smart little dog having proven a great favorite, particularly with the women. The shepherd (police dog) ranks second with about 100 entries; wire-haired fox terriers third with sixty-four and Airedsles, who led in popularity among the terriers so many years, represented by only forty-nine dogs.

The great number of motion-picture actors and actresses who are dog fanciers makes it distinctly an amateur show, and the generality of the entries is of a very high standard.

YEWELL'S WIFE SAFE

Twenty cents stood between Mrs. Viola Luella Savage and an order for allmony from her husband, Wilfred Casey Savage, whom she is suing for divorce, when they appeared before Judge Guerin yesterday for temporary adjudication of their finances.

It was the 20 cents she receives as wages every day in excess of the amount her husband earns.

Mrs. Savage makes $5 a day, she testified. Savage gets only $4.80 a day. asy. "Why, she's better off than he is," Judge Guerin observed. "The law does not provide that a woman can get alimony arbitrarily. Actual need must be shown."

In her divorce complaint Mrs. Savage charged that her husband was so indolent that she had to work to help support the household.

peing held for ransom by Mexican pandits in the State of Chihuahua, bandits in the State of Chihuahua, was dissipated yesterday by the receipt of a message from Mrs. Yewell in which she stated she was safe at Parral, Mex.

Mrs. Yewell's husband, Pani Yewell, was abducted by the bandits from his home at Parral Sunday afternoon. In the absence of any word from their daughter since that time, Mr. and Mrs. Wade grew anxious, believing that she, too, may have fallen into the hands of the outlaws. The message yesterday, however, set their fears at rest.
